Education

Bachelor of Arts in Human Ecology	Expected Jun 2028
Concentration in Civil &amp; Environmental Engineering
College of the Atlantic	Bar Harbor, ME
Honors: Shelby Davis Scholarship, College of the Atlantic UWC Scholarship, George E. Jonas–John Litsios Science Award (2025)	3.9/4.0

Research & Technical Experience

Research Assistant	Nov 2024 – Dec 2025
Dept. Civil &amp; Architectural Engineering, University of Miami	Coral Gables, FL
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Processed and harmonized utility infrastructure datasets to inform the International Code Council (ICC) 815 Standard (sizing of water distribution, sanitary drainage, and vent piping systems) committee workflows</li><li>Led geospatial and econometric analyses of residential water demand to aid the development of a framework to computationally determine the most efficient layout and pipe sizes for building plumbing</li><li>Built Python notebooks for feature engineering and machine-learning models (regularized regression and tree-based) to identify and categorize high-resolution water demand determinants</li><li>Collaborated with faculty, PhD students, and postdoctoral fellows; conducted targeted literature reviews and designed metadata schemas/data dictionaries to ensure dataset joinability and reuse</li></ul>

Research Assistant	Nov 2024 – Jan 2025
Dept. Civil &amp; Environmental Engineering, Florida International University	Miami, FL
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Installed, commissioned, and maintained in-situ monitoring stations (soil moisture/temperature and rainfall), configured dataloggers, sampling intervals, metadata, and verification checks for robust time-series capture in the Green Stormwater Infrastructure (GSI) project</li><li>Performed constant-head infiltrometry to estimate field Saturated Hydraulic Conductivity (Ksat), both Falling and Constant Head Method, and parameterized infiltration for site-scale hydrologic models</li><li>Collected and processed samples to quantify Total Suspended Solids (TSS) and Total Dissolved Solids (TDS) on infrastructure</li><li>Served as acting GSI site lead, performing sensor calibration protocols, ensuring data precision, and overseeing the integrity of real-time monitoring systems</li></ul>

Associate &amp; Data Analyst	Sep 2024 – Jun 2025
Community Energy Center, College of the Atlantic	Bar Harbor, ME
<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Conducted comprehensive data processing for sustainability reporting for The Sustainability Tracking, Assessment &amp; Rating System (STARS), enhancing transparency and accountability in energy and resource use</li><li>Performed hands-on insulation initiatives that minimize thermal energy loss and enhance the efficiency of building heating systems</li><li>Drafted and coordinated thermal energy efficiency grant proposals, securing funding for campus-wide sustainability upgrades</li><li>Launched and managed the 2025 Power Down Contest, incentivizing 32 COA houses to cut energy use, awarding a $150 grant to the winning house based on normalized percentage reductions</li></ul>
